

THE DIFFERENCE.

(From the Philadelphia Inquirer.)
A woman glances into a mirror to confirm her impression that she looks all right; a man stares into one in order to bluff himself into thinking he does.

Are you satisfied that no member of your family requiring glasses is doing without them?

Your eyesight may be perfect—in that event it may be difficult for you to appreciate what a handicap it is to be without glasses when they are necessary.

We have the knowledge, the experience and the equipment to examine eyes and make glasses that will give you the maximum of comfort and satisfaction.

There is no obligation whether or NOT our Oculist (Registered Eye Physician) finds that glasses are needed.

Harris Glasses are priced at from $2 upward.

Lysander Arriving at Piping Rock Track In Private Auto, and Owner F. Ambrose Clark

LYSANDER ARRIVES IN A MOTOR CAR
F. Ambrose Clark's crack steeplechaser Lysander travels to and from his racing engagements almost in the same style and comfort as his owner and other millionaires of the Long Island horse set. Lysander is seen in the photo entering his own motor car after his race at the Piping Rock meet in which he finished third to Rhine Maiden and Star Gaze. Lysander usually runs over the jumps, but this race was on the flat.

the official representatives of the engineers, the firemen, the trainmen and the conductors.

The railroad representatives are not empowered to enter an agreement with the men. Not one of them is an executive officer of the road he represents. They will endeavor to learn the best terms to be expected from the unions and will report back to the railroad officials, who will have the final decision in the matter.

Detective's Catch Was the Watchman.
Harry Warren of No. 100 West Fifty-fifth Street was arrested to-day charged with unlawfully entering the store of the Musical Instrument Sales Company at No. 235 West Twenty-first Street on May 17. Phonograph records worth $5,000 had disappeared in a few minutes and a private detective was hiding in the place when Warren, a watchman in the building, entered. He said he thought burglars were in the store, but when the police found many phonograph records in his home the manager of the store, Bernard McNulty, ordered his arrest.

Demands of the Men Presented at To-Days Session—Open Discussion to Follow.

The demands of the railroad employees were read to the twenty railroad managers taking part in the labor adjustment conference being held at the Engineering Building to-day, and a discussion which is expected to last three days was started. A. G. Garretson presented the demands of the men, and Elisha E. Lee of the Pennsylvania Railroad was the leader for the railroad managers in the discussion that followed.

Complete regulation of working conditions under agreements between the railroads and the unions was asked for in the demands, the most important condition being the establishment of an eight-hour day without reduction of wages. The men also ask for time-and-a-half for all overtime.

Six hundred union delegates were present, and it was decided to permit open discussion of each paragraph of the statement of demands. Warren S. Stone, P. E. Dodge, Timothy O'Shea and Mr. Garretson were selected as
